

The University
Of Sheffield.

Department
Of Economics

Stated Preference Methods in Health Economics

Thursday 12 January 2017

Department of Economics, University of Sheffield, 9 Mappin Street, Sheffield, S1 4DT

09.00-09.20	Coffee and Registration
09.20-09.30	Welcome by the event organisers
Morning Session
09.30-10.20	Verity Watson, University of Aberdeen, UK 'How to Improve Response Consistency in Discrete Choice Experiments? An Induced Values Investigation'
10.20-11.10	Martina Vandebroek, KU Leuven, Belgium 'On Different Maximum Simulated Likelihood Estimates and Hierarchical Bayesian Estimates for Mixed Logit Models'
11.10-12.00	Trine Kjær, University of Southern Denmark 'Exploring Causal Inference by Linking Survey and Register Data'
Session Chair: Arne Risa Hole, University of Sheffield, UK
12.00-13.20	Lunch
Afternoon Session 1
13.20-14.10	Marcel Jonker, Erasmus University Rotterdam, the Netherlands 'Fast Numerical Optimization of Individually Adaptive DCE Designs using Laplace Approximations'
14.10-15.00	Nancy Devlin, Office of Health Economics, UK 'A New Approach to Eliciting Stated Preferences for HRQoL: Personal Utility Functions'
Session Chair: Donna Rowen, University of Sheffield, UK
15.00-15.20	Coffee
Afternoon Session 2
15.20-16.10	Henrik Andersson, Toulouse School of Economics, France 'Scope Sensitivity Tests in Contingent Valuation and Choice Experiment Designs: an application using willingness to pay for mortality and morbidity risk reductions'
16.10 - 17.00	Jose Luis Pinto Prades, University of Navarra, Spain 'Exploring the Reasons Behind the Non-constant Monetary Value of QALYs'
Session Chair: Jytte Nielsen, Newcastle University, UK

This workshop is supported by the Royal Economic Society and the Centre for Wellbeing in Public Policy.

Inst
EAD. | Institute for Economic Analysis
of Decision-making.

Centre for Wellbeing in Public Policy.

